Resource Center

The Business School Resource Center is designed to bridge the gap between business theory and practical application. The Resource Center integrates current global news into the classroom and inspires students to engage in critical thinking about events shaping the world today.

The Resource Center

- ➔ Provides online, easily accessible, low-cost weekly news content.
- ➔ Offers instructional and integration support.
- ➔ Fosters more informed and better engaged students.
- ➔ Adds a global and international dynamic to any classroom.
- ➔ Develops globally informed, career-ready graduates.

SUPPLEMENT ANY COURSE OR PROGRAM WITH CURRENT, APPLICABLE, DISCIPLINE-SPECIFIC, AND COMPETENCY-BASED CONTENT.

The Business School Resource Center addresses programmatic and institutional accreditation requirements related to general skill areas, foundational knowledge, the global context, student engagement, entrepreneurial skills, innovation, lifelong learning, and workplace application.

Article Summaries

Each week, our advisory board of academic writers provides article summaries with key learning points, discussion questions, and activities for students. Full articles are available for faculty and students directly within the Resource Center.

Online Quizzes

Faculty can now generate custom online quizzes directly from the Resource Center – as illustrated below – based on the article summaries produced by the Advisory Board. The Quiz/Exam feature offers faculty a quick way to test student knowledge on assigned articles and the concepts being taught in class.

Faculty Certification

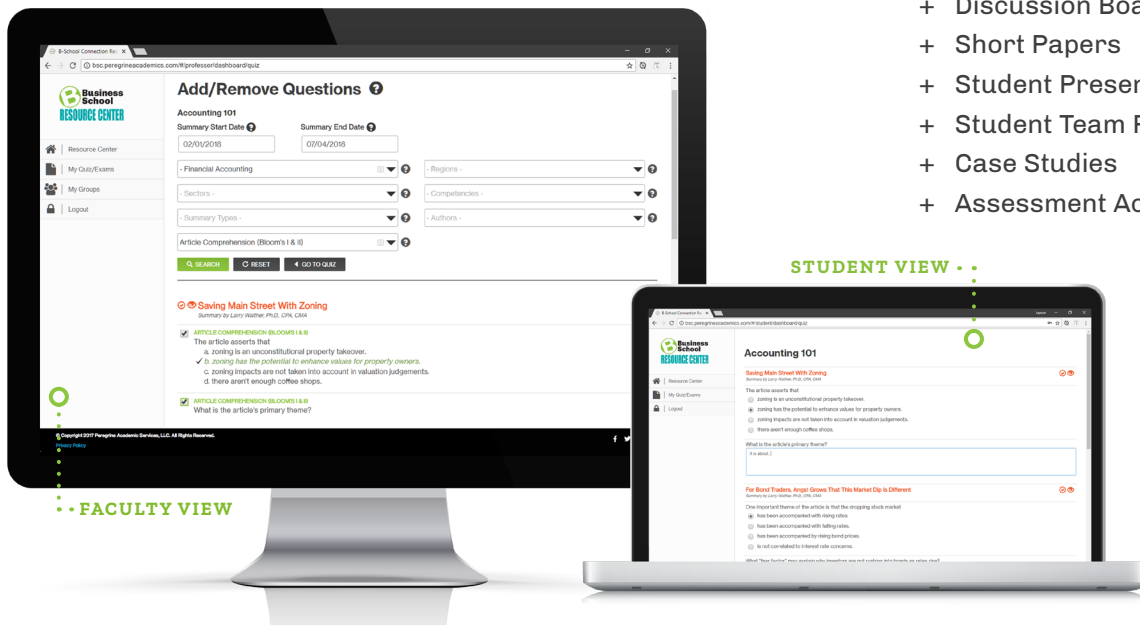

Faculty members can further their professional development, learn integration techniques, and contribute to their academic community by participating in the Business School Resource Center Faculty Certification Program.

Seamless Integration

The Resource Center offers discipline-specific sample syllabus content and lesson plans that demonstrate how you can easily integrate the Business School Resource Center into your curriculum and enrich your students' experience. We also offer LTI integration with your learning management system to create a seamless experience for faculty and students.
